THE NEW YORK HERALD was founded by James Gordon Bennett in 1835. It remained the sole property of its founder until his death, in 1872, when his son, also James Gordon Bennett, succeeded to the ownership of the paper, which remained in his hands until his death, in 1918. THE HERALD became the property of Frank A. Munsey, its present owner, in 1920.

Psychic Photographs. A Believer in Spiritualism Answers Nevil Maskelyne.

To THE NEW YORK HERALD: I am constrained to submit a reply to the arti-cle on spirit photographs by Nevil

In referring to the Hope case in England and the charge by Mr. Price of the changing of plates Mr. Maskelyne leaves changing of plates Mr. Maskelyne leaves much unsaid. There was undoubtedly chicanery somewhere in this case, but it has not yet been proved wherein it it has not yet been proved wherein it it lay, but I do notice Mr. Maskelyne does to Mr. Price that has turned up in the possession of the London Psychical Research Society with a second of the second of the London Psychical Research Society with a second of search Society with an extra upon it, and held back during the earlier investigations of the case. There was a brief interruption to this policy in the long life of the theater. Morris Gest, ever an innovator, persuaded the Shuberts to allow his spectacular "Experience" to occupy for a while the stage dedicated for so many years to musical pieces. The production is said to have been prosperous. It was not considered wise, however, to depart again from the settled policy of the playhouse, a policy which was known
